Program for the meeting:

In addition to a guided tour of the Oriental department of the Bibliothèque Nationale, Monique Cohen had arranged for us to visit other major centres of Chimese research in Paris. The centres visited were:

Bibliotheque Nationale, by M. Cohen.

- Bibliotheque de l'École des Langues Orientales, by Marion Debout.
- Bibliothèque de l'Institut des Hautes Études chinoises, including the Societe Asiatique, by Françoise Wang.
- Centre de Documentation et d'Étude du Taoisme, by Kristofe Schipper.

Musee Guilmet, with the library, by

Centre de Documentation et de recherches sur la Chine contemporaina by Odile Tian-Pierquin and Jacqueline Nivæ Bibliothèque du Centre de recherches linguistiques sur l'As orientale, by Alain Lucas

At the meetings at the Bibliothèque Nationale the following topics were discussed:

1. Discussion of Commercial Press's plans to publish a new Si ku quan shu.It was agreed that David Helliwell (Oxford) should write to the Commercial Press expressing our hope and desire to be allowed to select freely off-prints from the whole set of the Si ku quan shu, if the CP desided to reprint the series.

Related to this topic, a discussion on libraries' policy of towards pirated books and towards companies that made the pirated editions followed. On this issue no conclusion was draw

- 2. Problems related to the shift of emphasis from established institutions to modern documentation centres were discussed. It is apparently easier to establish new institutions than to funnel money into old institutions, with the result that the selection and buying of books may become more haphhazard.
 - 3. Key-word cataloguing and L.of Congress subject headings were briefly discussed.
 - 4. Howard Nelson's revised proposal for the updating of the European Union List of Chinese Serials was discussed. The proposal was approved of, and is recommended to the Board of the EACS as it stands. It was agreed that further deliberations or revisions were unneccessary.
 - 5. John Ma's proposal for a Central Research Library for Chinese studies in Europe was turned down. It was deemed not feasible to establish a new Sinological Library in Europe at the present time. Streffer (Berlin) indicated that certain services on a central scale were already provided from Berlin. These services might be expanded, and Streffer would look into the pos sibilities.
 - 6. A Newsletter was decided established. Lauridsen (Cph.) and Helliwell (Oxf.) should submit plans for format, contents etc. to our next meeting. Helliwell expressed his willingness to act as editor of the Newsletter, and he was asked to start editing even before decisions on format were decided upon. The librarians in this group must feel a certain obligation to answer favourably to the editor's request for material.

7. Howard Nelson (Lond.) reported on a meeting on library automation held in Canberra last year. A complete report from the meeting will appear in the first issue of the Newsletter.

- 8. Announcements: questions:
- (and
- a. Catalogue of old Chinese books in the Bodleian Library, Vol.1. Backhouse coll. By David Helliwell. The catalogue can be bought from Han Shan Tang, London.
- b. Journal of the Association of Chinese Scholars in Europe, can be ordered from Joint Publ. HK.
- c. John Ma's directory of European Libraries with Sinological holdings will not appear in 1983. An early estimate gives 1984. Revisions may have to be made.
- d. The next meeting of the Sinological librarians will be held in connection to the EACS meeting in Tubingen. A possible excursion to the Bayerische Staatsbibliothek included in the schedule would be appreciated.
- 9. John Ma expressed his willingness to act as chairman for one more year. He is not willing to continue after 1984. J.M.Streffer was elected as secretary to the organization. All further correspondence in connection with the libraria group should be addressed to him.

Best wishes to all of you from the outgoing secretary
